Israelis shoot down Egyptian aircraft

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel reported that its air and ground forces shot down three Egyptian helicopters over the southwest coast of the Sinai peninsula early today.

Israel said the air battle did not interrupt the delivery of emergency supplies of food, water and medicine to Egyptian troops stranded on the Sinai side of the Suez Canal.

Egyptian trucks with U.N. drivers were delivering the supplies for the Egyptian 3rd Army, an Israeli spokesman said, and they were being loaded on Egyptian barges and boats that were carrying them to the troops trapped on the east bank.

The spokesman said the supplies were being ferried from a part of the town of Suez, at the southern end of the canal, that is still controlled by the Egyptians.

But the communiqué reporting the helicopter incident said nothing about suspending the convoys in retaliation.

The Israeli command said its jet fighters were sent up to intercept the Egyptian helicopters over an Israeli position a few miles south of the Egyptian 3rd Army, which is encircled on the Sinai side of the Suez Canal.

The communiqué said the planes hit two of the helicopters and antiaircraft gunners brought down a third.

On the west side of the canal Sunday, 100 Egyptian trucks with U.N. drivers began passing through the Israeli lines 60 miles from Cairo with food, water and medical supplies for the 3rd Army and the thousands of civilians trapped in Suez, the Egyptian town at the southern end of the canal.

The first convoy of 10 trucks was reported to have reached the canal by midnight, but a U.N. spokesman in Jerusalem said at 7 a.m. that he had no word that it had crossed to the Egyptian troops on the east side.

Another convoy of 10 trucks pulled into Suez, where Israeli soldiers said there were 15,000 civilians.

The Israelis said Sunday that Egyptian artillery had opened up on the first convoys, apparently by mistake. There were no casualties.

Advance units of the U.N. peacekeeping force also arrived at Suez and Ismailia and began making arrangements to bring in larger units to police the cease-fire.

Of the 600 troops sent to Egypt temporarily from the U.N. peacekeeping force in Cyprus, the 200 Finnish troops were to be based in Suez, the 200 Swedes at Ismailia, which is at the midpoint of the canal, and the 200 Austrians will remain in Cairo as a reserve force, a U.N. spokesman there said.

U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim hopes to complete recruiting the new Middle East force of 7,000 men from 10 to 15 countries by Tuesday or Wednesday, a U.N. spokesman in New York reported. He said the first of these troops should arrive by next weekend.

Israel, meanwhile, complained to U.N. observers of an Egyptian cease-fire violation, saying that an Egyptian commando platoon slipped across the Suez Canal from the east bank Sunday and attacked Israeli forces north of the town of Suez.

The Israeli command said the attack was repulsed, but it added that the sporadic fighting threatened to disrupt the supply convoys to the encircled Egyptians. This was taken in Tel Aviv as a threat to block future convoys if there were more Egyptian attacks.

"Every night there is firing — small arms firing — but it's nothing," a Swedish U.N. truce observer told Associated Press correspondent Edith M. Lederer at the cease-fire line on the Cairo-Suez road.

Israel agreed to let a total of 100 truckloads of supplies go through to the 3rd Army and to Suez. They were split up into convoys of 10 trucks.

Israeli Maj. Gen. Aharon Yariv and Egyptian Brig. Bashir Shariff met at 1:30 a.m. Sunday at the cease-fire line 60 miles east of Cairo to work out the arrangements.

They agreed the Egyptians would drive the trucks to the cease-fire line, the Israelis would search them for concealed weapons, and U.N. representatives would drive them the rest of the way. An Israeli jeep and three U.N. vehicles led each convoy.

The meeting between Yariv and Shariff was the first open Israeli-Egyptian meeting at such a high level since the 1956 Suez War, the Israeli command said.

"It's a start that people begin to talk," Premier Golda Meir told newsmen in Tel Aviv. "The atmosphere was good. There are possibilities and I think realistic possibilities for future meetings."

Mrs. Meir said her government agreed to let the supply convoys through "in response to an urgent and special appeal of the U.S. government."

The Egyptian government sent Acting Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy to the United States Sunday night to seek U.S. help in getting the Israelis to withdraw from all territory occupied in the last two Arab-Israeli wars.

The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al Ahram reported that he was carrying a letter from President Anwar Sadat to President Nixon.

Elsewhere on the diplomatic front, another African nation — Senegal — broke diplomatic relations with Israel, citing the Israeli advance down the west side of the Suez Canal last Tuesday after the first cease-fire.

The Sedalia Symphony Orchestra will open its 1973-74 season with a concert at 8 o'clock tonight in the Smith-Cotton auditorium, Abe Rosenthal conducting.

Guest artist will be Cantor Murray Hochberg of St. Louis, a tenor. He will present a program of both religious and popular music.

Cox to testify before Senate committee today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fired special

Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox, who says he wanted more than just the presidential tapes, was to appear before the Senate Judiciary Committee today as lead-off witness at hearings into his ouster.

The hearings open during a week in which President Nixon's acting attorney general is to name a new special prosecutor to replace Cox.

Most senators, however, had their own idea about how to select a man to investigate the administration.

Central to this latest potential collision between Nixon and Congress is whether a new prosecutor will get access to sensitive White House materials, which could be evidence in one or another of the cases broadly lumped under the title of Watergate.

Cox said Sunday the nine presidential tape recordings he sought "were clearly only a first step in seeking a great deal of important evidence from the White House."

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., a member of the Judiciary Committee, said he would seek to determine whether Cox believes he was fired because the trail in the Watergate investigation was leading to President Nixon.

Other senators promised questions about Cox's investigation into the Nixon administration's handling of the ITT case and the dairy industry's contributions to the Nixon reelection campaign.

"It was the unanimous opinion of all of us that we should give this matter as much priority as possible," he said.

In a statement issued by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, the leadership said consideration of the Ford nomination "should proceed with all due deliberateness in both houses."

"Barring objections of substance, the leadership was hopeful that the nomination would be considered for confirmation by both houses during the current session," Mansfield said.

The leadership statement was issued as the Senate Judiciary Committee prepared to open public hearings into the firing of special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox, and as the Senate Rules Committee scheduled a closed session to discuss a timetable for considering Ford's nomination.

Mansfield said the joint Democratic leadership agreed to meet weekly during

Time magazine said Sunday that Nixon had rejected one potential Bork nominee, apparently on political grounds. Time did not name the person rejected.

Bork indicated Saturday he was considering some method of sending the name of his nominee to Congress for its approval.

A majority of the Senate, however, already has endorsed a bill that would have a new prosecutor picked by U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica.

Proponents of this plan, including Cox and a principal Senate sponsor, Indiana

Democrat Birch Bayh, acknowledge there could be arguments over its constitutionality.

But they contend the plan would be upheld in what would be another court struggle over Watergate. Their object is to avoid having a prosecutor again subject to firing by Nixon.

Cox was fired by Nixon Oct. 20 after refusing to go along with a compromise plan that would have furnished an account of the nine White House tapes to the Watergate grand jury and to the Senate Watergate Committee.

Democrats hope for Ford vote this year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic congressional leaders said today they hope the nomination of Rep. Gerald R. Ford to be vice president can be voted on in both houses this year.

House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., said at a news conference "there is no doubt in my mind" that Congress will complete work on the Ford confirmation during this session.

"It was the unanimous opinion of all of us that we should give this matter as much priority as possible," he said.

In a statement issued by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, the leadership said consideration of the Ford nomination "should proceed with all due deliberateness in both houses."

"Barring objections of substance, the leadership was hopeful that the nomination would be considered for confirmation by both houses during the current session," Mansfield said.

The leadership statement was issued as the Senate Judiciary Committee prepared to open public hearings into the firing of special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox, and as the Senate Rules Committee scheduled a closed session to discuss a timetable for considering Ford's nomination.

Mansfield said the joint Democratic leadership agreed to meet weekly during the remainder of the current session, presumably because of the Ford nomination and the battle with the White House over a special prosecutor.

The leadership went on record as agreeing that "the executive branch must be sustained without partisanship of any kind when dealing with the real and proper concerns of the people of the nation in foreign relations and that these concerns could not be ignored, notwithstanding the internal difficulties of the government."

Meeting with Mansfield were Albert, Senate Democratic whip Robert C. Byrd and Sen. Frank Moss, chairman of the Democratic conference.

The full Senate and House will reconvene Tuesday at noon after the weekend recess.

Senate Judiciary Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said that besides Cox he expected to hear from former Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson and Richardson's former deputy, William D. Ruckelshaus.

They left the administration Oct. 20 after refusing Nixon's order to fire Cox.

The House Judiciary Committee, meanwhile, will continue its study of whether to begin impeachment proceedings against Nixon.

Trade surplus with Communist nations nothing to cheer about

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is headed for a huge $2 billion trade surplus with Communist nations this year, but it's nothing for American consumers to cheer about.

The surplus, far exceeding original forecasts by the Nixon administration, is being built largely on agricultural exports, mainly the massive wheat deal with the Soviet Union and mainland China.

That deal drained much-needed U.S. grain supplies and contributed heavily to the big upsurge in food prices this year.

Ironically, the trade surplus with Communist nations is giving the dollar a boost, making it stronger than it might otherwise have been, U.S. officials said.

Trade with Communist nations is one big reason why the nation's trading accounts are expected to be in the black this year for the first time in three years.

U.S. exports to Russia, mainland China and Communist European countries will be $2.5 billion to $2.9 billion this year, while imports from those countries will be $500 to $550 million, Commerce Department analysts said.

This compares with exports of $878 million and imports of $354 million last year.

"I doubt very much if trade is going to be at this year's magnitude in 1974," said Steven Lazarus, head of the department's Bureau of East-West Trade.

Lazarus said he anticipated a 25 per cent drop in U.S. trade with Communist nations next year, largely because of smaller agricultural purchases by the Soviet Union and mainland China.

But exports of other American-made goods will increase, he said.

Bulletin

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration urged Congress today to temporarily shelve President Nixon's recommendation to liberalize trade with the Soviet Union.

Peter Flanigan, Nixon's chief adviser on foreign economic policy, emphasized that this was a temporary position which would change if a satisfactory peace settlement is reached in the Middle East.

There is one problem clouding the picture, U.S. officials said. Congress is working on legislation that would deny tariff cuts to the Soviet Union until Russia changes its policies dealing with Jewish emigration.

Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz says failure of Congress to grant the Soviet Union the same rates on tariffs as other U.S. trading partners could imperil expanded trade between the two countries.

Agriculture is not the only area where trade has expanded between the United States and Communist-bloc nations.

Mainland China, for example, has contracted to buy 10 large passenger airplanes from Boeing Aircraft. It also is buying artificial fibers, communications equipment, scientific testing equipment and chemical fertilizers.

Lazarus said the Soviets sent a 16-person purchasing team to New York in 1972. They began lining up contracts for the Kama River truck plant and apparently participated in the grain purchases.

Ann Landers

Problem comes with living longer

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing about a problem that must be pretty prevalent now that people are living longer and every effort is being made to keep oldsters in good health and involved in the mainstream of life.

Dad is 76. He has been driving a car for over 50 years. He has had a few minor accidents, bent fenders, a sudden meeting with a garage door and the like, but nothing to speak of. In the last two years he has been very lucky. His eyesight is failing and his reflexes have slowed up considerably.

I've asked him to give up driving and suggested several alternatives. He becomes furious and accuses me of trying to make an old man out of him.

He loves his independence and I hate to hurt his pride, but when I think of him driving a carload of white-haired ladies to church I get weak in the knees.

Last month I thought my problem was solved when he told me he had to get his license renewed and would be taking a "test." Unfortunately, it was only a written test and he passed with flying colors. What now? — Worried

Dear W.: I get this same letter every week at least 10 times. Only the signatures are different.

The solution lies with the state legislatures. Some already have made the driving test a mandatory part of the renewal procedure for citizens over 65. All states should do so.

Dear Ann Landers: I have been thinking about the woman whose doctor had prescribed tranquillizers to "relax" her. She impetuously took an extra pill before going to a wedding reception. To her shame, she blurted out an excessively warm compliment to the bride. Immediately after, she felt like a fool.

You assured her that a genuine compliment is always appreciated and you admonished her to stop chastising herself. But you ignored the central problem which the writer also chose to pass over.

People who are on tranquilizers should be aware that the medication might affect their judgment. Some pills tend to make people talkative and uninhibited. They sometimes say things they wish they hadn't.

It is important for the doctor to hear about all side effects, both physical and psychological. Unless the patient informs him he cannot.

Please, Ann, retrace your steps and advise the woman to tell her doctor that the extra pill loosened the hinges on her tongue. — Corpus Christi

Dear Corp: Thank you for the suggestion. I've retraced — and here's your letter.

Dear Ann Landers: Come out of the clouds, for Lord's sake, and get down here with us humans. I am sick to death of your holier-than-thou attitude toward women whose husbands give them a well-deserved belt in the mouth.

Don't you know that a man can be pushed to the brink and something's got to give? A crack in the teeth can be a wonderful tension-breaker. It's also a lot healthier than keeping all that anger bottled up.

My husband hauls off and slugs me every few months and I don't mind. He feels better and so do I because he never hits me unless I deserve it. So why don't you come off it? — Real Happy

Dear R.H.: If you don't mind a crack in the teeth every few months, it's all right with me. I hope you have a good dentist.

Poll indicates many feel aid money wasted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans generally favor the concept of foreign aid, but a majority believes that too much aid money is either wasted in administrative red tape or pocketed by foreign leaders, a poll shows.

A scientific national sampling of 1,222 Americans disclosed that a record 68 per cent of the public — up 10 per cent from seven years ago — believes it is the duty of the United States to assist the world's poor.

But a concurrent finding suggested that this sentiment does not necessarily mean support for official government aid programs; indeed, 43 per cent of the respondents favored budget cuts in U.S. assistance.

The survey was conducted by the Overseas Development Council, a private institution whose aim is to increase American awareness of the problems facing developing countries. The survey results were outlined in a booklet by Paul Laudicina, an associate fellow of the council.

The study concluded that the public has a low regard for government aid programs compared with voluntary efforts, which are considered more efficient.

"A remarkable 91 per cent of the public agrees with the statement that 'too much of our foreign assistance is kept by the leaders of poor countries and does not get to the people,'" the survey said.

The study concluded that the public agrees that "too much foreign aid is wasted in our own bureaucracy and never finds its way abroad."

Conditions in the colon that result in spasm of the muscles in the tube-like colon build up pressure within the colon and finally cause the small hernia pockets that are diverticula. Many of the symptoms that people with diverticula complain about are not even caused by the diverticula.

Spasm and cramping of the bowel will cause bloating and pain even if no diverticula are present.

Other people have diverticula which cause no symptoms at all. I suspect that if you could separate the symptoms from poor bowel function from those that are really caused by diverticula, that you would find only a small percentage of patients with diverticula who really have symptoms from them.

I have received a lot of letters from people asking what to do about their constipation problem since they also have diverticula. Current thinking is that there is no difference in the long term treatment of the problems of spastic colon, constipation and diverticula; they are all parts of the same elephant — except in acute situations, such as inflammation, perforation or bleeding.

(Newspaper Enterprise Association)

There is more to it than this too, it is necessary to have a program of bowel training. The thought is that the diverticula is usually caused by poor bowel and diet problems to begin with, and this means eating foods that have no residue for normal colon function, using harsh laxatives and being hung up on the idea that a bowel movement must occur every day.

Beleaguered Egyptians given critical supplies

ON THE CAIRO-SUEZ ROAD, Egypt (AP) — Senior Israeli and Egyptian military officers met 60 miles from Cairo at 1:30 a.m. Sunday on a desolate piece of no man's land.

The 20,000-man Egyptian force has been trapped for six days in the sweltering heat of the Sinai Desert along the southern portion of the canal.

The meeting between Israeli Maj. Gen. Aharon Yariv and Egyptian Brig. Bashir Shariff took place near a dry gully called Wadi al-Jandal.

They agreed that the Egyptians would leave the trucks loaded with water, food and medical supplies on their side of the cease-fire line, the Israelis would search each truck for concealed weapons and U.N. drivers would take them through the Israeli lines to their destination.

U.N. observers control the desert checkpoint here 60 miles from Cairo and 20 miles from the town of Suez. Israeli soldiers are dug in on one side, and sandbagged Egyptian fortifications can be seen through binoculars on a low ridge less than a mile away.

"Every night there is firing — small arms firing — but that's nothing," said Capt. Carl Lothigius, a tall Swede who was trapped for 2½ days in a bunker on the east bank of the canal at the start of the war.

Another Israeli produced a can of boneless turkey from Canada which he said had been sent from Rome for the Palestinian refugees. He said a large quantity of such cans were found in a nearby military base.

Shortly before the supply convoy moved past the checkpoint Sunday, more than a dozen open trucks, carrying blue-helmeted Finnish members of the U.N. peacekeeping force, rolled along the Cairo-Suez highway.

Lothigius said they were headed for the City of Suez, at the southern end of the canal.

The Sun-Times reported that ballots returned after Nixon announced he would turn over the controversial White House tapes over to Judge John J. Sirica still favored impeachment almost 6 to 1.

About 17 per cent voted against impeachment and 15 per cent were against a new prosecutor.

Farm roundup

Others increasing soybean production

WASHINGTON (AP) — American farmers continue to supply nearly 75 per cent of the world's soybeans, but some other countries are making substantial gains in turning out the valuable oilseed, the Agriculture Department said today.

U.S. farmers are now harvesting a soybean crop estimated at nearly 1.6 billion bushels, up 24 per cent from 1972.

Another major blaze in Butler

BUTLER, Mo. (AP) — A fire, the third major blaze in this community in about a year, destroyed eight apartments and seven businesses and business offices early Sunday.

No injuries were reported. Firemen from Butler, Adrian, Rich Hill and Appleton battled the blaze from 2:30 a.m. until about 9 a.m.

Investigators said the fire destroyed, in addition to the apartments, a dentist's office, a doctor's office, an insurance agency, a beauty shop, the Butler chamber of commerce offices, the office of city attorney Harold Caskey and the district offices of the Christian Church.

The explosion of a furnace in an upstairs apartment apparently started the fire, officials said. The blaze was contained to north Main St., just off the city square. Damage estimate was put at about $350,000.

The Soviet Union is the world's largest country, with 8.6 million square miles.

Total world soybean production output in 1973 will be about 2.14 billion bushels, a gain of 22 per cent from last year, officials said.

The analysis of world soybean production was published by the Foreign Agricultural Service in a weekly report.

"The unprecedented increase primarily reflects a major expansion in soybean acreage in the United States and, to a lesser extent, Brazil," the report said. "Total world acreage harvested for soybeans in 1973 is forecast at 92.63 million acres, indicating a rise from last year of 15 per cent."

The report said Brazilian officials expect production in 1974 to reach 7 million tons, but that private sources estimate Brazil more likely will produce 5.8 million to 6.3 million.

In other areas of the world, soybean production is fragmented. The Soviet Union, for example, is the leading producer of grain but grows relatively few soybeans. The Russian harvest this year is estimated at about 400,000 tons, up from 260,000 in 1972.

The Peoples Republic of China is estimated to have produced about 6.7 million tons of soybeans this year, up about 400,000 from 1972, the report said.

Crisis living now home study course

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The American family is getting a home study course in crisis living, a crash course presented daily in the media space once occupied by the more routine news of human events.

Like a stock market speculator who doesn't know whether to feel exhilarated or depressed until he runs the ticker tape through his fingers, they are living each day by the latest news.

Among the crises that are feared, loom ahead or actually exist are those involving air, water, food, prices, drugs, military, government, housing, cities, fuel oil, gasoline, currency, transportation.

Depending upon occupation or interest, or sometimes geographical location, there are crises involving stocks, newsprint, weather, income, jobs, profits, schools, crops.

Where actual crises don't exist there are often shortages, as in some chemicals; hostility, as between ecologists and builders; tensions, as between labor and management; conflict, as between brokers and bankers.

If the past is a criterion, some of these conflicts, tensions, hostilities and shortages will develop into crises. In the past a good deal of conflict was arranged or easily foreseen. Some of it was produced with full knowledge of the eventual consequences, but produced nevertheless:

—Appliance manufacturers promoted power-operated devices while they and the utilities that supplied the power were warning of shortages.

—The automobile industry produced more cars than ever while clean air groups warned that the internal combustion engine was a major polluter.

—The securities industry ignored the needs of individual investors while trying to hide from the realization that they couldn't continue to exist without them.

—Small-town tax collectors promoted real estate developments while making no provisions for the ecological impact on the water supply and sewage disposal systems.

—Pressure groups blocked the development of new energy sources or the erection of power plants while offering no alternative to the inevitability of higher prices or shortages.

As in some families, the whole world seems held together by its disputes, its conflicts and problems. The atmosphere is one of glee and gloom, anticipation and foreboding. A crisis atmosphere.

And to get with it, to face the day in the proper mood, you check the latest news.

Mr. Arnold had been a resident of Sedalia all his life and was a member of the First United Methodist Church. He was a retired farmer.

Mr. Arnold is survived by two sons, Frank A. Arnold, Route 3; Delbert Arnold, 1216 West 10th; one sister, Mrs. Mary Watson, Compton, Calif.; three grandchildren and seven greatgrandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday at the Heckart-Gillespie Funeral Home with Rev. Denis R. Craft, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, officiating.

Pallbearers will be E. L. Bohon Jr., Jerry Brown, Charles Corson, Charlie Davidson, M. E. Hackett and Bud McCown.

Burial will be in Memorial Park Cemetery.

The family will receive friends at the funeral home from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Ernest F. Brummett

Ernest F. Brummett, 73, 213 East Second, was found dead at his home Sunday morning, after apparently suffering a heart attack.

He was born in the Longwood community, May 30, 1900, son of the late Joseph A. and Julia Cunningham Brummett. He was married at Longwood, Missouri, December 3, 1922, to Frances Montgomery, who preceded in death Oct. 7, 1968.

He lived all of his life in the Longwood and Sedalia communities and had worked as a painter until his retirement.

Mr. Brummett was a member of the Longwood Presbyterian Church.

He is survived by one son, Joseph L. Brummett, 503 East 15th; two sisters, Mrs. Pete Williams, Green Ridge; Mrs. Margaret Gilbert, Indianapolis, Ind., and one granddaughter.

Graveside services will be held at Memorial Park Cemetery at 10 a.m. Tuesday with the Rev. John Steele, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, officiating.

Burial will be in the Memorial Park Cemetery.

The body is at the Ewing Funeral Home.

Mrs. Effie Ann Mosier

Mrs. Effie Ann Mosier, 69, 1304 South Stewart, died at the Bothwell Hospital, Monday morning, where she had been a patient for the past two days.

The body is at the Ewing Funeral Home. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Ernest F. Ferguson

WARSAW — Ernest F. Ferguson, 78, died early Sunday morning at St. Margaret's Hospital, Kansas City, Kan.

He was born in Warsaw March 25, 1895, son of William and Olive Harrison Ferguson. He married Ella Wickliffe Sept. 21, 1919, in Kansas City, Kan., and she survives.

He was a veteran of World War I and lived in Kansas City, Kan., after his marriage until March, 1960. He was employed by Proctor and Gamble Co. there for 42 years.

He was a member of Warsaw Christian Church.

Other survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Vivian Hubbs, Mrs. Vera Yonts and Mrs. Dolores McMillian, all of Kansas City, Kan.; nine grandchildren and six greatgrandchildren; six brothers, Clyde Ferguson, Kansas City, Kan.; Homer Ferguson, Warsaw; Eddie Ferguson, Calhoun; Jeff Ferguson, Clinton; Darl Ferguson, state of Montana; Mike Ferguson, Kansas City, Kan.; three sisters, Mrs. Faye Halley, Warsaw; Mrs. Bess Johnson, Fristoe, and Mrs. Ethel Moore, Kansas City, Kan.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Reser Funeral Chapel here with the Rev. Ted Francis officiating.

Burial will be in Riverside Cemetery.

The family will receive friends Monday evening at the funeral home.

Sentencing is delayed for teenager

A Sedalia teenager, Gary Clark, 1306 West Fifth, pleaded guilty Monday in Pettis County Circuit Court to a charge of second-degree burglary.

Circuit Court Judge Frank Meyer delayed sentencing to Dec. 17 pending a pre-sentence investigation by the Missouri Department of Probation and Parole, according to Prosecuting Attorney Gary Fleming.

Clark, 18, is charged in connection with the March 2, 1972, theft of $738 of sound equipment from Trinity Lutheran Church here. A stealing charge against Clark in connection with the same incident was dismissed by Fleming.

Two other men also are charged in connection with the theft. Edward Kerley, St. Louis, was sentenced to two, two-year jail terms and then placed on probation after he pleaded guilty to stealing and burglary charges. Gene Fry, 17, 1919 South Lamine, is scheduled to appear in Cooper County Circuit Court next Monday to face stealing and burglary charges. His case was moved to Cooper County on a charge of venue.

Lee J. Johnson

Lee J. Johnson, 66, 432 North Washington, died Sunday night at his home.

He was born March 24, 1907, in Saline County.

A veteran of World War II, Johnson was a member of the Taylor Chapel United Methodist Church.

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Pearl Lewis, of the home; Mrs. Anna Whitlow, Warrensburg, and one brother, Robert Johnson, Chicago.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete. The body is at the Allen and Sons Funeral Home.

Gilbert P. (Bert) Knox

KANSAS CITY — Gilbert P. (Bert) Knox, 72, a former Smithton resident, died Saturday at St. Joseph's hospital here.

He was born April 14, 1901, in Smithton, son of the late Edward and Josie Hallahan Knox. He married the former Maybelle Cooper, who survives of the home.

Mr. Knox was a retired employee of the Sealtest Ice Cream Co., Kansas City, and was a member of St. Stephen's Catholic Church, Kansas City.

Additional survivors include one son, Leo Knox, Pleasantville; one daughter, Mrs. Betty Mae Wilson, Kansas City; eight grandchildren and seven greatgrandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday at the church.

Burial will be at Mt. Olivet Cemetery, Kansas City.

A prayer service will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Sheil Funeral Chapel, Kansas City.

Claud Holmes

SLATER — Funeral services for Claud Holmes, 86, who died Friday at the Keller Memorial Hospital, Fayette, were held at 2 p.m. Sunday at the First Baptist Church here with the Rev. Orville Haines officiating.

He was born Nov. 3, 1886, in Bath County, Kentucky, son of James McClellan Holmes and Minnie Mildred Stull Holmes. He married Cora Bell Hoffman March 30, 1908, in Kansas City.

He was a member of the First Baptist Church here.

Survivors include his wife, Cora, of the home; five daughters, Mrs. Nick (Maud) Knutz, 1110 West 10th, Sedalia; Mrs. Floyd (Mildred) Jones, Cynthiana, Ky.; Mrs. Louis (May Bell) Finkenstein, Pasadena, Calif.; Mrs. Lester (Mary Louise) Pichette, Phoenix, Ariz.; Miss Margaret Holmes, Granite City, Ill.; two brothers, Clifford Holmes, Slater; Campbell Holmes, Sulphur Springs, Ark.; one sister, Mrs. Cora Thompson, Sulphur Springs, Ark.; 11 grandchildren, 16 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Burial was in the Slater City Cemetery.

Four persons are injured in two accidents

Four Sedalians sustained injuries in two separate accidents over the weekend.

A two-car accident at 14th and Limitt at 9:26 p.m. Saturday resulted in injuries to three persons when a 1969 Chevrolet driven south on Limitt by Danny Merriott, 20, 1810 South Quincy, collided with a westbound car driven by Ed Smith, 56, 1902 South Stewart.

Merriott and Smith were treated and released at Bothwell Hospital. Vivian Smith, 58, a passenger in her husband's car, was admitted to the hospital for observation and was listed in fair condition Monday morning with a possible bruised kidney.

Both cars were extensively damaged in the collision.

A car-truck accident at Fourth and Barrett at 12:50 a.m. Sunday occurred when a 1968 Chevrolet, driven by Arnold Weaver, 18, 2507 Albert Lee, going west on Fourth, failed to yield at a stop sign and struck a northbound 1967 Chevrolet truck driven by Danny Landwehr, 27, 1505 West Third.

Landwehr's truck was knocked across the intersection where it knocked over a mailbox.

Mary Landwehr, 27, a passenger in her husband's truck, was treated and released at Bothwell Hospital.

Weaver was charged by police with driving while intoxicated.

County reassessment delayed by weather

The reassessment of Pettis County has been delayed again, hopefully only for a few days.

Pettis County Presiding Judge Harry Walch said the president of the Continental Appraisal Co., Tom Valentine, said Monday he would be unable to fly into Sedalia either Monday or Tuesday because of bad weather.

Valentine earlier had indicated to the court that he would begin setting up his company's headquarters either Monday or Tuesday in a room on the second floor of the county courthouse.

"He (Valentine) said he hoped to be here in the middle of the week of the weather clears," Walch said.

Continental, of Buffalo, N.Y., was awarded a $144,500 contract this past summer to reappraise the county. Actual work was originally expected to begin in September but now had been delayed to about Dec. 1, according to Valentine.

Imposter is arrested for desertion

RED OAK, Iowa (AP) — A West Virginia man who has posed in several neighboring states as a star athlete was arrested here over the weekend on a charge of desertion.

Authorities said William A. Wilson, 24, of Freeman, W.Va., was wanted by the FBI on a warrant for deserting July 7.

Montgomery County Sheriff Richard Harrell said Monday that military authorities from Ft. Sheridan, Ill., are expected to pick up Wilson Tuesday.

Authorities said Wilson appeared in Red Oak Friday after he phoned ahead to inform a local radio station that he was a relief pitcher for the Pittsburgh Pirates and was touring the area to promote baseball.

Several townspeople became suspicious, however, when Wilson began confusing some football players as baseball players.

Capping suspicions was a news account of a man identifying himself as Billy Wilson from Florida who had told high school and college football coaches in Kansas and Missouri that he was a star football and basketball player.

One officer was left at the south end of the building while a second officer went to the north end where he found a door glass broken out and the door partially open. Entering the building the officer saw the man running toward him in the hallway. The officer ordered the man to halt but the man ducked down one of the side hallways in the building.

A thorough search of the building by other officers that arrived on the scene failed to turn up the burglar, who was described by police as being a white male in his late 20's.

The intruder had apparently been chiseling on the doorknob of the industrial arts shop when he was interrupted.

In other police news, Jim Brown, Joplin, told police that four mag wheels, valued at $65, were removed from his car sometime over the weekend while the vehicle was parked at Ramada Inn.

Vandals slashed two tires, valued at $50, on a car belonging to Anthony Drwieg, 2310 East Ninth, sometime Friday or Saturday, it was reported. Drwieg told police that the car was parked at his home at the time of the incident.

Watson said the young man told him he was moving to town and would be available to play football. Watson said, however, that after being informed he could not play, the young man attended one class at school, left in mid-session and was not seen again.

Authorities in Red Oak said Wilson's status became known after a query was made to the National Crime Information Center in Washington, D.C.

They said Wilson offered no resistance when he was arrested Saturday.

Bond undecided on session for reorganization

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Christopher S. Bond said today he has not yet decided on whether to call a special session of the legislature to deal with reorganization of state government.

Some Senate and House leaders have called for a special session, prior to the regular session in January, saying the legislature could give more attention to reorganization at a time when other matters are not pending.

Bond said at a news conference today he has found some lawmakers not in favor of a special session and said he believes both houses could focus on reorganization in January before other legislation comes up for floor action.

Bond vetoed a reorganization bill passed by the legislature last June. One of the main areas of disagreement is how many appointments the Senate should have confirmation power over.

Both Bond and leaders of the Senate say they are willing to compromise on this issue, but each side blames the other for not compromising enough. "We'll wait and see," Bond said today.

CLAYTON, Mo. (AP) — Cool weather arrived a little earlier than expected, and electric heaters, blankets and jackets became the order of the day today in the old St. Louis County Courthouse.

The equipment was distributed to about 100 jail prisoners and workers in several offices this morning after temperatures dipped to 36 in Clayton.

The old courthouse is scheduled to be connected to the heating system at the new county administration center, but the connection is incomplete because some materials have been delayed.

Posting of buffer U.N. force planned

CAIRO (AP) — United Nations observers are working to define the lines of opposing forces along the Suez Canal to clear the way for the posting of an emergency U.N. buffer force, U.N. officers said today.

They said 13 two-men U.N. patrols are operating in the former battle zones but indicated there will be no immediate attempt to restore the Oct. 22 lines.

That was the date of the first U.N. Security Council cease-fire, which was never really observed.

Fertilizer debt payment ordered

A $9,000 civil suit was decided in favor of the plaintiff Monday in Pettis County Circuit Court.

Circuit Court Judge Frank Meyer ruled that David Ward, whose business of Ward Brothers is located in Pettis County near Windsor, pay International Minerals and Chemical Corp., Skokie, Ill., a total of $9,076.01.

The Illinois firm had alleged that Ward owed $7,818.45 for fertilizer he had purchased from the company in 1970 and 1971. Judge Meyer also ordered Ward to pay $1,257.56 interest.

Authorities could not say what Coleman had been doing in White County but ruled out murder. Coleman's wallet contained $484.

Man found in school eludes police

A would-be burglar was caught in the act by Sedalia police Saturday evening at the junior high school but managed to elude police as they searched for him inside the school.

According to the police report, an intrusion alarm at the school went off Saturday at 7:25 p.m. and a squad car was sent to investigate.

The second pass around the school, the officer saw someone inside the building walking south down a hallway. The intruder apparently saw the squad car and, dropping to a crouch, ran toward the north end of the building.

One officer was left at the south end of the building while a second officer went to the north end where he found a door glass broken out and the door partially open.

Entering the building the officer saw the man running toward him in the hallway. The officer ordered the man to halt but the man ducked down one of the side hallways in the building.

Every dieter needs a good salad

Salads are the great diet standbys and it's usually hard to beat them for so much flavor with so few calories. Salads are especially good, too, when you're dining alone. They're simple to make and you can fix just as much as you need.

Grapefruit Marinated Vegetables is a tempting dish for dieters. Its robust flavor belies its 80 calories per serving. Just listen to these ingredients — fresh mushrooms, sliced carrots, celery, zucchini and grapefruit sections. The vegetables are marinated overnight in a zesty mixture that's prepared with grapefruit juice. It permeates the fresh vegetables with lively, piquant flavor.

If you want to serve this as a main dish just add chicken, tuna or salmon to the marinated vegetables, and you've got an easy one-dish meal.

A very special course you can prepare for yourself and a dieting friend is Marinated Shrimp in Grapefruit Shells. The shrimp are marinated in a spicy grapefruit juice mixture, then served with fresh grapefruit sections in scooped-out grapefruit shells. This is a really good looking dish that you can proudly serve for your important luncheons. And don't forget that grapefruit is a good source of natural vitamin C so you're not only getting superb flavor, but an important nutrient as well.

Tuna and Beet Salad with Orange Yogurt Dressing is another low calorie specialty you can enjoy for lunch or a light dinner. It takes only minutes to make since the dressing is a simple mixture of plain yogurt, orange juice concentrate and honey and it's served over fresh orange sections, sliced beets and tuna. Practically no work at all!

GRAPEFRUIT MARINATED VEGETABLES

1/2 cup water
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1/2 cup grapefruit juice
2 tablespoons salad oil
3/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce

1/4 cup catchup
1 clove garlic
1/4 pound mushrooms, sliced
1 cup diagonally sliced carrots

1/2 cup sliced celery

1/2 cups sliced raw zucchini

1 cup grapefruit sections*

Mix water and cornstarch in saucepan; cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Simmer 1 minute. Remove from heat; add grapefruit juice, salad oil, salt, paprika, mustard, tabasco and catchup. Beat until smooth. Add garlic, mushrooms, carrots, celery and zucchini; marinate in refrigerator overnight. Just before serving, remove garlic and add grapefruit sections. Serve on salad greens with cut-up cooked chicken, tuna or salmon.

Polly's problem

DEAR POLLY — I do hope some of the readers have a solution for a laundry problem I have encountered. I had two nylon sweaters stored in a dresser drawer. A deep pink one "crooked off" on a white one leaving pink stains. I have tried a nonchlorine bleach to remove the marks but with no success. Any solutions? — BONNIE.

DEAR POLLY — One of my Pet Peeves is that the sink manufacturers always make an indentation for a bar of soap to fit in but never make a place deep enough for the water to drain away. — NANCY.

DEAR POLLY — This is for Grace who has trouble cleaning her aluminum porch awnings. We had the same trouble until I discovered bleach used full strength. Wipe over awnings with a sponge, wait a few minutes and then hose them off. Living in Florida we have problems with mildew and bleach takes care of this. It is an economical remedy and I use what remains in my washing machine. — CARRIE.

LaMonte given merit award

LaMONT — The Community Betterment Club here received the 1973 Missouri Community Betterment Special Merit Award Friday for progress in projects involving the Golden Agers, Youth Program and the community blood bank.

The award, signed by Gov. Christopher Bond, was accepted by Mrs. W. C. Jones, chairman of the club.

Mrs. Jones said the award was given on the basis of an 85-page booklet.

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Constitution itself, plus a long series of Supreme Court decisions, seems to point unmistakably to the notion that the checks and balances among the three branches of government should be broadly interactive.

President Nixon is acting, however, as if the power of Congress to impeach him were the only valid and necessary check upon him in the conduct of his office. Guided by his lawyers over the release of his tapes relating to the Watergate case, his basic argument appears to be that he is immune to the commands of the third branch, the court system.

In 1971, 44 million short tons of salt was produced in the U.S., of which only three per cent was used as a seasoning. Salt is used in the production of glass, textile dyes, soap and ice cream; it is also used in preserving foods and hides and in melting ice, and is the chief source of sodium and chlorine. PR push overdone at state capital

Jefferson City seems to be turning into a PR man's paradise.

The latest to jump on the bandwagon is none other than Gov. Christopher S. Bond himself, who has started a weekly column under his name that is distributed to 240 newspapers. Called the "State of the State," it will be handled by the administration's central publicity office, which also provides radio stations with material.

Rapid escalation of the public relations war has followed the creation of the Missouri News Service (MNS) which the governor set up shortly after taking office. It serves as a central clearing house for all news releases originating in the executive branch, and which were previously issued by individual agencies.

The Democratic-controlled General Assembly lost no time in attacking the MNS as a publicity tool of the governor. It retaliated by getting into the swim itself.

First the Democratic leadership of the Senate hired its own flack man, who started churning out weekly releases. The House of Representatives, not to be outdone, followed suit by setting up its publicity office.

State Auditor John Ashcroft even got into the act at one point, sending out weekly reports from his office. Senate President Pro Tem William J. Cason also appears to have his own PR service working at high gear, apart from the Senate's service.

All of this requires a great deal of time, effort and expense—the latter courtesy of Missouri taxpayers—with very little to show for it. While some of the "news" releases from the state capital are in fact newsworthy, it's a safe bet that most of them end up in editors' circular files.

It would be better if our elected officials, both executive and legislative, would spend less time puffing themselves up and more time going about their business, trusting that the working press will continue to be able to spot bonafide news and report it to the people.

BERRY'S WORLD

"I'm afraid I can't accept delivery of any more pre-Christmas catalogs. There's no more room!"

Pattern of presidential arrogance

But the U.S. Court of Appeals already has told him, in supporting U.S. District Judge John Sirica's order to the president to turn over the tapes for judicial study, that he has no such immunity. The appeals court accepted Sirica's view that there are ample legal precedents indicating that a President may be subject to court restraint as well as legislative censure and removal by impeachment. In that court's words, "he is not above the law's commands."

To lay political analysts as well as many lawyers, the precedents indicating a double check upon the Presidency at the peak of the executive branch are viewed as compelling.

Certainly the double check applies to the powers of Congress. The Supreme Court, by early historic precedent, may declare acts of Congress unconstitutional and hence invalid. A president may veto congressional action. Even if that veto is overridden by a two-thirds vote. He may find ways to frustrate what he deems unwise moves by Congress. Though lower court rulings are mixed, presidents have often defied Congress by inaction or impoundment of voted funds. And it is entirely conceivable that the Supreme Court may, when the issue is presented starkly, sustain such impoundment.

The double check upon the court system itself is plain, even if it be conceded that it works more slowly. Congress may institute amendments to the Constitution which, if supported by the legislatures of three-fourths of the 50 states, can alter the rules governing court decisions. Most presidents, especially if they serve two terms, get more than one chance to alter the makeup and legal orientation of the Supreme Court by making new appointments, though these, of course, are subject to Senate confirmation and this now and then modifies their influence.

It is also highly significant that a president almost wholly commands the appointive power affecting the federal court system at lower levels. This gives him a strong counterweight, despite the fact that some visible limits exist. Judges are removable for varying kinds of misconduct, and changes in his authority can be instituted by constitutional amendment or, in some instances, congressional statutory action.

Clearly the cycle of interactive checks and balances would be incomplete if the Presidency were to be exempt from judicial constraint. Nothing in the historical record suggests that it is.

Mr. Nixon's legal arguments in the Watergate tape issue thus have been twice rejected. Furthermore, his and his aides' behavior in the out-of-court phases of discharged Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox's Watergate inquiry offers potent evidence of the dangers of presumed immunity.

Carl Rowan

The way out of the mess

WASHINGTON — Most Americans surely sighed with relief when President Nixon agreed to comply with a court order that he turn Watergate tapes over to federal Judge John J. Sirica.

Rowan

There can be no question that compliance was forced by thunderous public uproar against Nixon's firing special prosecutor Archibald Cox over objections of his attorney general and deputy attorney general, both of whom resigned.

This belated, grudging bow to the rule of law may still temporarily stifle the cries for impeachment which were building to a crescendo, but the American people are left with some agonizing questions.

Not the least is whether the country can stand 39 more months of Nixon's baffling, disquieting behavior.

And do we have any real reason to believe that the President is now ready to give total cooperation to the sort of independent investigation which Cox was undertaking? Was this drama just a plot to get rid of Cox, who was boring in on Bebe Rebozo and some of the deals he undertook for the President?

We are left wondering why the President assumes these 100 per cent bellicose postures toward the courts and the Congress only to suddenly shift 180 degrees. Does he flip flop mentally, or do his advisers have Jekyll-Hyde personalities?

Many congressmen will surely want to press ahead with preliminary studies which could yet pave the way for impeachment proceedings. For this compliance regarding the tapes is surely not the last incident that will provoke cries for the ouster of Mr. Nixon.

But the congressmen had better face the reality that Mr. Nixon is not likely to resign, nor Republicans to vote to impeach him, as long as a Democrat, House Speaker Carl Albert, is in line to inherit the presidency.

That is why this terrible national crisis can be eased only if the Congress moves speedily to confirm Rep. Gerald Ford as vice president.

This suggestion will outrage those congressmen, like Rep. Jerome Waldie (D-Calif.), who believe that if Mr. Nixon is unfit to continue as President he is unfit to name his successor.

Speedy confirmation of Ford will also be opposed by organized labor, the AFL-CIO already having taken an adamant stand against it.

Civil rights leaders may also balk, knowing as they do that Ford has been a hypocrite where civil rights legislation is concerned. Time after time he has tried to gut legislative proposals with hostile amendments and then has made his record seem good by voting for the legislation on final passage.

No, Ford is by no means my candidate for either vice president or President. But the nation is in a dilemma where it may have to decide that accepting Ford as interim President is the price they are willing to pay to get rid of Nixon and avoid the executive branch tyranny which he seeks to impose.

At least, as far as we know, Ford has not been a party to the receipt of $200,000 in cash from fugitive Robert Vesco. He has not been involved in any $100,000 gifts in cash from billionaire reclusive Howard Hughes. He has not rapped off taxpayers by having vast amounts of government funds used to improve his private properties. He has not created private burglary units or become part of a colossal cover-up of felonies conducted from within the White House.

For all the dullness and lack of inspiration about him, Ford would at least offer an escape from the irrationality, ruthlessness, desperation which have marked Mr. Nixon's recent behavior.

In any event, if impeachment cries continue, the pragmatic reality may be that the only successful way to proceed is:

1. Get Mr. Nixon to pledge to the nation that he will resign once Ford is confirmed. This may be impossible to achieve.

2. Get a majority in the House and two-thirds in the Senate to commit themselves to a two-vote package—one to confirm Ford, the second to impeach Nixon.

Without some such move in which Democrats make it clear they are not trying to use Watergate as a means of stealing the White House, we shall probably endure months of impeachment drama where Nixon could narrowly escape removal from office.

What a pitiful mess that would leave the country in for three years.

Merry-go-round

'White House god' blamed by Donald

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The President's nephew, Donald A. Nixon, blamed the President — whom he called the "great god in the White House" — for sending him to work in Europe for financier Robert Vesco.

Several weeks after young Donald arrived in Geneva he wrote to a friend in California and complained about having to associate with Vesco.

"This place is beginning to get me down due to the people I have to work with," Donald wrote to John Meier, a former neighbor. "Gil Straub (a Vesco executive) is an ok guy, but this Vesco fella and I don't get it on."

"Oh well, I got myself into this by letting my parents and the great god in the White House pull wool over my eyelids . . ."

Later in the letter, Donald said, "I'll know where I fit in this organization in the next couple of weeks, that is, if I don't happen to kill Vesco first."

Although his father, F. Donald Nixon, once insisted to my associate George Clifford that young Donald worked for International Controls in Geneva rather than Vesco's more shady Investors Overseas Services, Donald gave IOS as his return address. In a July 1971 letter, Donald wrote:

"I believe this to be something which you and I and IOS will be able to handle in order to bring forth vast quantities of good old lettuce."

Donald went to join Vesco in Geneva in July 1971. Previously, he had lived in the California mountains with what his father called "hippies." Tony Ulasewicz, a former New York policeman who was used by the White House for a number of varied assignments, was sent to the mountains to bring Donald back.

Donald's father also told Clifford that presidential aide John Ehrlichman had talked to young Donald at San Clemente for several hours about keeping his nose clean.

We recently reported that we have affidavits from people who swear they heard F. Donald Nixon say he never became involved in business deals without the permission of his brother, the President. The White House denied any veto power over Donald's activities. One of young Donald's letters, however, seems to agree with the affidavits.

In November 1971, Donald wrote to Meier: "So far, I've met with some pretty interesting (sic) people and have hopes of doing business with them. One of them is an American citizen, but was born in Peking and has the OK from the WH for me to do business with him . . ." By "WH," Donald apparently meant the White House.

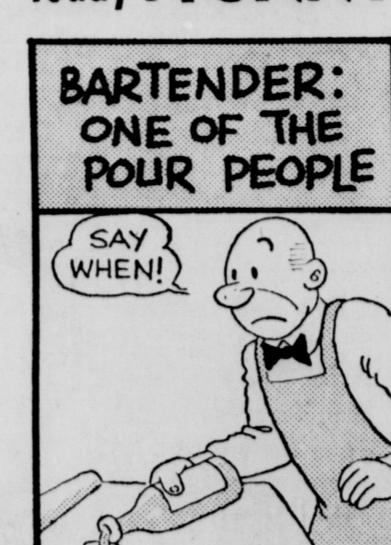

Meier, the recipient of the letters, once was a consultant to eccentric billionaire Howard Hughes. Meier is now being sued by Hughes and is under indictment on tax charges. He insists, however, that both the Hughes suit and the tax case were motivated by his business dealings with Don Nixon and his son.

"Don told me that Ehrlichman was having my phones tapped," Meier told us. "That was before the IRS began its audit of me."

In actual life every great enterprise begins with and takes its first forward step in Faith. — August Schlegel, German critic and poet.

In 1972, Meier was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator in New Mexico. During that campaign, there was a break-in at the office of Meier's campaign manager, Thomas Benavides, in Albuquerque. Benavides, who was a leader in the New Mexico Democrats for Nixon movement during the presidential campaign, told us nothing was taken from his office except papers belonging to Meier.

The burglars, however, did not get Meier's papers on his relationship with Donald Nixon.

FOOTNOTE: Vesco is now a fugitive in Costa Rica, where President Jose Figueres has refused to extradite him to stand trial in the United States. Former Attorney General John Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans, indicted with Vesco for conspiracy, are awaiting trial in New York.

Experimental plan workable

By MARIA BRADEN
Associated Press Writer

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — You can call — and reach — a doctor in the middle of the night, you can have your teeth fixed, and you can get an X-ray or have a cut sewn up — all for a flat monthly fee under an experimental program sponsored by the federal government.

The Hunter Foundation for Health Care, Inc., here is one of 14 clinics established across the country to try to provide an alternative to skyrocketing health costs. Known as a Health Maintenance Organization (HMO), it both dispenses preventive health care and treats the sick.

Warns FDA authority threatened

WASHINGTON (AP) — The commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration has warned that legislation now being considered could return the country to the "patent medicine abuses which prevailed at the turn of the century."

Dr. Alexander M. Schmidt made the statement today in testimony prepared for the House Public Health and Welfare subcommittee, which is considering measures to limit FDA authority to regulate vitamins and minerals.

Schmidt told the group that the proposals would "diminish FDA's statutory authority to protect the consumer and would promote widespread consumer fraud."

He said the FDA rules in question simply require truthful labeling and rational combinations of ingredients. He said no nutrient or food component will be banned.

Only two items currently freely available, high levels of vitamins A and D, would require a prescription, he said.

Schmidt said if the FDA rules are overturned, "the marketer would no longer be required to present proof of safety of any food ingredient prior to its use in food."

Congressional conservation pioneer dies

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Rep. John P. Saylor, who helped pioneer the conservation movement during his quarter of a century in Congress, is dead at 65.

President Nixon praised the Pennsylvania Republican as a "congressman of exceptional stature" in a statement following Saylor's death Sunday in St. Luke's Hospital in Houston, Tex.

"Long before the issue of conservation, natural resources and environmental quality came to fashion, he was helping to shape wise national policies for these vital concerns," Nixon said.

Saylor, the ranking Republican on the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, was struck with a fatal heart attack while recovering from stomach surgery.

Saylor was author of the Wilderness Act, designed to save land from development, and an early backer of antipollution efforts.

He sponsored legislation establishing the Office of Coal Research to find more uses for coal and was a prime mover of the Coal Mine Health and Safety Act of 1969.

Fire department dance disrupted

ALLENSTOWN, N.H. (AP) — The members of the volunteer fire department could have picked a better night to have their annual dance.

Minutes before the social event was to begin Saturday, the fire alarm sounded and the men were called to knock down three brush fires in a remote part of town.

Then they went to the ball but were soon called out again, this time to a false alarm.

They returned to the ball, but before the evening was over they were called out to a fire in a state park.

That fire wasn't put out until shortly before 4 a.m.

Since the objective of an HMO is to maintain good health, much of the treatment focuses on preventive care. The advantage to the patient is that he "gets everything done and never gets to the crisis stage," according to Dr. Walter Stoll, a physician at the Hunter Foundation.

At the moment the clinic has 1,300 health contracts — or about 3,000 patients. The clinic easily could handle as many as 10,000, Dr. Stoll said.

Under the monthly pre-payment plan, a member can budget his medical costs and never need be faced with a financial crisis that might result from prolonged hospitalization or surgery. "Everything's taken care of," Dr. Stoll said. "We're liable for every penny of medical expense for the rest of your life — as long as the monthly payments are made."

However, the acting director of the foundation, Dr. Joyce Berry, noted there are some limitations on coverage, such as cost of glasses, crutches or artificial limbs. In addition, certain pre-existing medical conditions are not covered under the contract. Dr. Berry said.

The Hunter Foundation was funded by a two-year planning grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity in 1971. The government grant is $1.6 million through June 1974. Dr. Stoll said the foundation is expected to generate $1.3 million on its own in that time.

Among advantages Dr. Stoll cited are the fact that patients are treated in a centralized location. Complete patient records are kept in a computer and are available at a moment's notice, he said.

In the event that a patient does become seriously ill and require hospitalization, hospital and surgical costs are taken care of under the prepaid plan.

A patient enrolling in a health maintenance organization will receive a battery of screening tests, with the results stored in a computer for future reference. On his first visit to the clinic, the member selects a health care team consisting of a physician, primary care clinicians (nurses and pharmacists) and family health workers.

Each time the patient makes an appointment to come to the clinic he is seen by one or more members of the same team. Members may also "drop in" at the clinic if they have a problem requiring immediate attention.

Patients are seen in modern, brightly lit examining rooms at the clinic — a totally renovated structure that was once the Fayette County Police headquarters.

The clinic also houses a staffed nursery, where patients may leave their children while they obtain health services.

What's the cost to the patient? It depends on his ability to pay.

Only about 12 per cent of the patients at the Hunter Foundation pay full medical costs. Federal funds cover the costs of those who can't afford full payment.

The maximum monthly fee for a family of four or more is $50. For a family who can't afford full payment, the cost per month drops accordingly. The minimum cost is a tenth of the full-paid rate — or $5.

Paul White, 43, was charged in the killing of Frank Schuemauer, 65, whose body was found on a porch area of the hospital Sunday. Police said White was discovered at the scene with blood on his hands.

It was generally believed that he was kidnapped by the Korean Central Intelligence Agency to shut him up although the government repeatedly denied that it was involved. Several days after he was returned to Seoul, the government put him under house arrest.

Rams can't crack Minnesota defense

By KEN RAPPORPORT

The Minnesota Vikings won the Battle of Bloomington as they win most of their battles—in the trenches.

The Viking foot soldiers broke through the enemy's lines and totally disrupted their game plan en route to a tense 10-9 National Football League victory over the Los Angeles Rams Sunday.

"I tried everything, but they just out-executed us all day," said Los Angeles quarterback John Hadl. "No doubt about it, that's the best defensive team we've played all year. It was just a battle all day long—we never got the momentum."

One of the pesty Viking raiders was middle linebacker Jeff Siemon, who helped turn the war of unbeatens in the Vikings' favor.

In the fourth quarter when the Rams attempted a counter-attack, Siemon blitzed through the Rams' line twice to harass Hadl and then sacked the Los Angeles ace for a 15-yard loss.

"I was right in Hadl's face," said Siemon. "We knew if he ever set up to try to throw the long one, we eventually would sack him."

The Vikings thus improved their record to 7-0, the only unblemished record in pro football, and also improved their lead in the National Conference's Central Division.

The Vikings moved to a four-game lead over the Green Bay Packers (2-3-2), who dropped a 34-0 decision to the Detroit Lions.

The Rams (6-1) lost a game off their National Conference Western Division lead to the Atlanta Falcons, who trimmed the San Francisco 49ers 17-3.

Two upsets punctuated the NFL's bloody Sunday as the New Orleans Saints turned back the Washington Redskins 19-3 and the Philadelphia Eagles hammered the Dallas Cowboys 30-16. Washington maintained a one-game lead in the National Conference's Eastern Division.

Elsewhere, the East-leading Miami Dolphins tripped the New England Patriots 30-14, the Central-leading Pittsburgh Steelers stopped the Cincinnati Bengals 20-13 and the Oakland Raiders, leaders in the West, trimmed the Baltimore Colts 34-21.

In other games, the San Diego Chargers and Cleveland Browns played to a 16-16 tie; the Denver Broncos slugged the New York Jets 40-28; the St. Louis Cardinals beat the New York Giants 35-27 and the Chicago Bears routed the Houston Oilers 35-14.

The Kansas City Chiefs meet the Bills in Buffalo for the weekly Monday night game.

The Ram-Viking affair, played before a full house in Bloomington, Minn., gave the fans their money's worth from the beginning.

Fred Cox kicked a 15-yard field goal and Fran Tarkenton clicked on a nine-yard scoring strike to Chuck Foreman to give the Vikings a 10-0 lead and then their brutish defense made it stand up.

The sturdy Viking defense held the Rams to David Ray field goals of 30, 35 and 47 yards and that was it.

"We did play super," said an immodest Carl Eller. "We played as well as we have ever played—everyone contributed. If one man falls down, it makes a difference. To a man, we played super."

Saints 19, Redskins 3 . . .

New Orleans stunned Washington 19-3 with the help of a newcomer. Bill McClard kicked four field goals to provide the upset.

"We tried to get ready but when your opponent loses 40-0, it's hard to do," said Washington Coach George Allen, referring to the Saints' 40-0 loss last week to San Francisco.

"We were just fortunate that Dallas lost."

Eagles 30, Cowboys 16 . . .

Roman Gabriel fired two touchdown passes and scored another on a quarterback sneak to lead Philadelphia past Dallas 30-16.

"This is an amazing team, a team of nobodys," said Gabriel, referring to an Eagles' club studded with rookies and cast-offs. "This is the best win I've ever been associated with."

Lions 34, Packers 0 . . .

Altie Taylor had his best rushing day with 160 yards. The shutout was Detroit's first this season.

Falcons 17, 49ers 3 . . .

Bob Lee hooked up with Ken Burrow for 164 yards and two TDs in Atlanta's 17-3 win. The Falcons (4-3) won their third straight game since Lee became quarterback.

Dolphins 30, Patriots 14 . . .

Stung by two New England TDs in the first period, Miami rallied with the help of three field goals by Garo Yepremian for a 34-10 victory over the Patriots.

Steelers 20, Bengals 13 . . .

Reserve quarterback Terry Hanratty, thrown into the breach when starter Terry Bradshaw suffered a shoulder separation, joined with a tough Pittsburgh defense to help the Steelers edge Cincinnati 20-13.

Raiders 34, Colts 21 . . .

Ken Stabler completed 25 of 29 passes to set an NFL record as Oakland bombed Baltimore 34-21. Stabler's completion percentage of .862 wiped out the record of .857 established by Sammy Baugh of the Washington Redskins in 1945. Baugh connected on 18 of 21 passes.

Chargers 16, Browns 16 . . .

Ray Wersching's 16-yard field goal with 30 seconds remaining gave San Diego a 16-16 tie with Cleveland.

Smithton Tigers

Experience greets Steve Hunter

By BOB SHACKELFORD

Staff Sportswriter

SMITHTON — Selected as the top team in the upcoming Kaysinger Conference Tournament, the Smithton Tigers return a wealth of talent from their 1972-73 club that finished with a fine 22-6 record. Now at the helm of the Bengals is Steve Hunter, a graduate of Northwest Missouri State University at Maryville. Hunter brings with him one year's experience at Jameison, a perennial power in Class S ball.

A high-powered scoring machine last season, there is no reason to believe the Smithton crew won't keep on rolling. Leading the charge with a 6-6 senior Rusty Templeire. All-Conference last year, the lanky Templeire poured in 565 points for a 20.1 average and was the loop's leading rebounder, pulling down 428 caroms for a fine average of 15.2 per contest.

Also returning to add board strength and scoring punch is 6-5 Jay Teter. Gone is two-time all-conference selection Paul Anderson, but Hunter expects his "little" brother, Gene, a 6-1 junior to step in and take up any slack left on the wing slot of the offense.

The rest of the squad from which the new Bengal mentor has to choose from is also strong with scoring ability and rebound strength; Martin Turner, a 6-3 senior; Eric Hopper, 5-10, a fine jumping senior guard; and 2 junior guards, Martin White (5-6) and Terry Bremer (5-7) who will be responsible for keeping the offense moving and hawking opponents on defense.

Coach Hunter feels that LaMonte and Cole Camp would have a lot of talent and should be serious contenders for the conference championship.

When asked for comment on the upcoming season, Coach Hunter cautiously replied, "I am glad to be in the conference and feel honored to be seeded first in the approaching tournament."

The Smithton club is going to deal a lot of misery to a lot of teams. You can bet they are looking forward to at least one particular date on their schedule — February 1st; that's when they tangle with Sacred Heart. The Gremlins were responsible for five of the Tiger losses last season. The rest of the conference had better be ready, too; the Bengals are strong in every phase of the game, have a very knowledgeable young coach and should go a long way this season.

Kuhn slaps Finley with $7,000 in fines

NEW YORK (AP) — The adventures of Charles O. Finley continue today with the next chapter from the baseball commissioner's office.

Bowie Kuhn will have an announcement concerning the latest development—a $7,000 fine for Finley's antics during the recent World Series.

Finley, the maverick owner of the Oakland A's, has been fined by Kuhn for various misconducts during the Series—including the notorious Mike Andrews case.

If you recall the last episode, Finley forced Andrews to go on the disabled list following two costly errors in the A's loss to the New York Mets in the second game of the Series.

For that action, Finley was fined $5,000, he said.

Along with the Andrews case, which took some of the play away from baseball's fall spectacle, Finley also rubbed Kuhn the wrong way in other instances.

The controversial owner made a public address announcement to Oakland fans that the A's were playing with only 24 men instead of the legal 25. A front-office misund-standing had cost the A's a player for the World Series.

For that indiscretion, Finley was fined $1,000 more.

Finley then got Kuhn's ire up by turning on the lights at the Oakland Coliseum to help his hitters in the bottom half of an inning. The rules say the lights should be switched on at the top half of the inning so both teams can be helped, not just the home side.

For that indiscretion, Finley was fined $1,000 more.

Finley, reached at his LaPorte, Ind., home Sunday, called the fine "grossly unfair." He said he would appeal two of the fines to the executive council of baseball—the Andrews fine and the announcement fine.

The Andrews case was the cause celebre by a longshot.

After Andrews made two consecutive errors at second base that allowed three New York runs to score, Finley ordered a post-game medical examination for Andrews.

Finley was understandably upset about the fine.

"I refused, stating to him that in no possible way would I place such an imposition on my manager for the 1974 season. I told him I would not guarantee him anything but I would send him to a doctor to see what's wrong with him. At the last minute, he changed his mind and said he would sign anyway.

"For requesting that Andrews be placed on the disabled list, I am fined $5,000. The commissioner comes back and forces me to put him (Andrews) back on the squad."

Onofrio hopes MU can pick up pieces

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Coach Barry Switzer of Oklahoma thinks the third-ranked Sooners will find the Iowa State Cyclones in a frustrated mood when the two teams collide Saturday in a Big Eight Conference football game at Norman, Okla.

"They've got to be frustrated," says Switzer, whose Sooners are the league's only undefeated team. "Yes, that concerns me. I don't know much about Iowa State's personnel. I haven't looked at any film. They had quality players last year."

Seventh-ranked Missouri, hoping to pick up the pieces after Saturday's 17-13 loss at Colorado, returns home to face Kansas State Saturday. Oklahoma State invades Kansas, and Colorado travels to Nebraska.

Switzer began to eye the Cyclone game after Oklahoma demolished Kansas State 56-14.

The whopping difference between the two clubs definitely established the Sooners, 5-0-1 against all competition, as odds-on favorites to win the conference crown.

The victory, coupled with Missouri's first defeat, boosted the Sooners into the league lead with a 2-0 record. Switzer applied the word "frustrated" to the Cyclones after learning they had lost to Kansas 22-20. He is also aware that Iowa State's two other conference losses were by only 23-16 to Colorado and 21-19 to Kansas State.

Nebraska, 10th ranked and the Big Eight's defending champion, had to come from behind in tie Oklahoma State 17-17 in last weekend's other game.

Switzer says he isn't concerned about the pressure involved in being the Big Eight's only unbeaten team.

"You sports writers, our fans and all the fans put the pressure on us to go out and deserve that kind of recognition," explains Switzer, whose team is on a two-year probation. "We're not worrying about the pressure. I'd rather be beaten than beaten. Who wouldn't?"

Steve Davis scored twice for Oklahoma against the Wildcats, 1-2 and 4-3, on dazzling runs of 22 and 27 yards and tossed a 13-yard pass to Wayne Hoffman for another touchdown. Joe Washington added two more TDs on runs of one and six yards. Errors ruined the Wildcats, who lost two fumbles and had four interceptions.

Wildcat Coach Vince Gibson concluded after the rout that "now that we've played them, I know they are the No. 1 team in the country. That triple option they've got is a real bear."

Gibson wouldn't even talk about Saturday's game with Missouri.

Colorado came from behind in the fourth quarter on Jim Kelleher's four-yard touchdown run to put the first blemish on Missouri's record. Earlier in the period, Greg Hill had staked Missouri, 2-1 and 6-1, to a 13-10 advantage. Colorado is 2-1 and 5-2.

Missouri Coach Al Onofrio, shaken by the fact that both Buff touchdowns were set up by fumbles, said the Tigers "made more mistakes at critical times than we had all year. I'm bitterly disappointed."

With 2½ minutes left, Nebraska, 1-1 and 5-1, brushed aside all thoughts of trying a field goal with the ball on the Cowboys' one-yard line and four down coming up. Tony Davis was short on a plunge to a 22-22 tie.

"There was never any doubt we would go for it," said Husker Coach Tom Osborne. "There has been tremendous pressure on the kicker."

Nebraska had pulled even with the Cowboys, 0-1 and 3-2, 1 midway in the third quarter. Dave Humm sneaking a yard for the touchdown.

Kansas, 2-1 and 5-2 and 17th ranked rallied with 1:46 left on a 62-yard drive capped by Delvin Williams' 32-yard draw play for a touchdown. Williams had scored earlier on a 44-yard pass from Dave Jaynes, who completed 20 of 32 passes for 312 yards. Mike Strachan of Iowa State, 0-3 and 3-3, collected 151 yards on 27 carries.

After trailing 14-3, the Jayhawks climbed back into contention when freshman Terry Beeson ran 50 yards for a touchdown with a punt he blocked. That came in the second quarter, and Kansas Coach Don Fambrough described it as the turning point.

Of the close victory, Fambrough said, knowing well that both of his team's losses were by one point.

"We had one of those coming to us. I guess the Man upstairs picked out today to let us have it."

Hughes to Wings

DETROIT — The Detroit Red Wings acquired defenseman Brent Hughes from the St. Louis Blues for an undisclosed amount of cash.

Jim Otto sets record starting 189th game

BALTIMORE (AP) — Oakland center Jim Otto set a National Football League record Sunday when he started his 189th consecutive regular season game as the Raiders' place kicker, also appeared in his 189th consecutive game. Not all of Blanda's appearances, however, have been starts.

The 35-year-old Otto, who was drafted by the Raiders prior to their first season in 1960, broke the mark of 188 straight regular season starts set by former Green Bay lineman Forrest Gregg.

That's all

Minutes after winning the Times Grand Prix at Riverside, Calif., Sunday, Mark Donohue, the 1972 Indianapolis 500 winner, announced his retirement as a race car driver. "I'm 37-years-old and I'm not going to get any better," the 1973 Canam champion said. "I've accomplished just about everything I hoped to in racing." (UPI)

Mike Thebeau's arm leads Jewell to top

1-1 in the MIAA and 3-4 on the season.

Jimmie Maddick kicked the deciding extra point in the final minutes to give Northwest Missouri the edge over Northeast.

The Bearcats' victory moved their conference mark to 3-1 while Northeast dropped to 1-2.

In other MIAA play, Central Missouri, 2-2, tripped Missouri Rolla 28-15 and Northwest Missouri, 3-1, nipped Northeast Missouri, 7-6. Southwest Missouri went outside the league and suffered a 42-14 defeat at Evansville, Ind.

Missouri's two other members of the HOA had pleasant outings: Tarkio crushed Baker 48-0 and Central Methodist surprised Graceeland 28-15.

Missouri independents fared poorly. Missouri Western lost to Kearney, Neb., 16-9. Missouri Southern went down to highly regarded Emporia, Kan. State 30-24 and Culver-Stockton was buried by powerful Millikin, Ill., 62-6.

Mike Thebeau threw three touchdown passes and connected on 20 of 35 passes for 304 yards in Jewell's conquest. The Cardinals remained undefeated in eight games, including five in the HOA. Valley dropped to 4-1 in the conference and 7-1 over-all.

Southeast's Dennis Schomohl

intercepted a pass and scampered nine yards for a touchdown with 3:10 left to cinch the Indians third conference victory without a defeat. Lincoln is 7-1 over-all.

The vote was "close and very disappointing," said Bill Hayes, who took over the sponsorship of the event after the death of his father, Gene, and uncle, Don, who brought it to Illinois in 1957.

A mile track opened in 1963, Liberty Bell's bid actually was less than that of DuQuoin. The Philadelphia track contracted for $115,000 added money, which practically assures a $200,000 purse for the classic.

The Illinois racing Board just last week confirmed a contribution of $75,000 to be added to Hayes' $50,000 for a total of $125,000 added money.

For many years, the Hayes family had fought to keep the race against the efforts of Eastern interests. "It was a lengthy discussion and quite involved," Hayes said after the meeting.

During its tenure at DuQuoin, the trot had seen many records, including world marks set by such entries as Ayres, Floris, Lindy's Pride and Speedy Scot.

Hambletonian to move to Liberty Bell Park

NEW YORK (AP) — The Directors of the Hambletonian Society awarded Sunday the Hambletonian for three years to Liberty Bell Park in Philadelphia, effective 1975.

The race next year will be the last at the DuQuoin state fair in DuQuoin, Ill.

clubs holds the first trick. He should note that if his partner holds either the ace of diamonds or king of hearts that two spade tricks added to one club and one red-suited trick will beat declarer. He should then decide on the best way to get two spade tricks.

Jim: "An immediate spade play is essential. He can lead the ace or nine and get his two spade tricks if East holds the jack and South has at least three spades."

Oswald: "Further study will show that he can also get two spade tricks if East holds the 10 spot and he, West, leads the queen."

Jim: Assuming he is a good enough player to see it, West should lead the spade queen and declarer will wind up down one."

Town has Halloween ghost legend

KEOKUK, Iowa (AP) — Legend has it that the ghost of J. Finnegan will return to Keokuk Halloween to search for his missing girlfriend.

And looking for the legendary ghost will be Keokuk residents who like to join in the fun.

According to the tale, Finnegan's ghost appears between 9:30 p.m. and 10:30 p.m. each Halloween on a bluff overlooking the Mississippi River at Keokuk.

The legend says Finnegan drowned in the Mississippi on Halloween in 1853 when he was 19 years old and was a cabin boy on a paddle-wheel boat on the river.

The most popular version of the tale says Finnegan was wanted in connection with a slaying in Boston, Mass. He fled from that city and went to New Orleans where he got a job on the river boat.

At one point, the legend continues, Finnegan wrote to his girlfriend in Boston and asked her to meet him on Halloween at the foot of the bluff in Keokuk.

Later, as the boat passed the bluff, Finnegan dived into the river to join his sweetheart.

Marine researcher is pushing octopus

By BRUCE DUNFORD
Associated Press Writer

HONOLULU (AP) — With meat prices skyrocketing, housewives are turning to cheaper protein sources, such as cheese, fish and even horse meat.

But if you suggested octopus, they'd probably turn up their noses, says marine biologist William F. Van Heukelom, even though the eight-legged mollusk isn't the huge, slimy, deep sea villain many believe.

On the contrary, Van Heukelom said, the octopus is generally small, very shy, surprisingly tasty and is popular as a food in much of Asia and in Mediterranean countries.

The main drawback to Americans and North Europeans is the appearance of the animal and the stories they've heard about him. To them it's like eating insects," Van Heukelom said. "Of course, I suppose you could chop it up like hamburger or cut the tentacles off, but the idea would still be there."

Van Heukelom is pursuing research aimed at making commercial raising of octopuses feasible. Getting the American public to accept octopus as a meat will take time, he admits.

Working at the University of Hawaii's Institute of Marine Biology on Coconut Island in Kaneohe Bay near here, Van Heukelom recently succeeded in bringing a Mexican species of octopus through a complete reproductive cycle in captivity, a scientific first.

It was the technical key to commercial production of the mollusk.

When compared to beef, pork or other animal sources of protein tein, the octopus' reproduction and growth rate and proportion of edibility seem fantastic.

Van Heukelom, 31, who has been researching the octopus for nearly 10 years, said it is "an extremely efficient food converter. It converts 50 per cent of the food it eats to growth," compared to 10 to 15 per cent for most other animals.

The octopus reaches a marketable weight, one pound, in five and a half months and reaches a more profitable five-pound weight in just two more months, he said.

Van Heukelom said octopus is 85 per cent edible, low in fat and high in protein. The only part of the boneless animal discarded is the intestines.

He sees promise for locally-raised octopus in the market here, where 95 per cent of what is sold is imported frozen from Japan.

Recycling practices implemented

KIRKWOOD, Mo. (AP) — St. Joseph Hospital in this St. Louis suburb has joined the ranks of those trying to keep America clean.

Roger Heroux, assistant administrator, says the hospital has undertaken a plan to deal with the buildup of hospital wastes in "an environmental sound" way.

The 400 intravenous bottles and 700 baby formula bottles used weekly are now being sent to Kirkwood's recycling center. Heroux says. Reusable syringes and tubes have replaced the throwaway types and the 100 gallons of liquid shortening used in the hospital kitchen each month is now being sold to a detergent manufacturer.

Heroux says old menus and pads are even being cut up and rebound for use as scratch pads.

The recently implemented recycling program will become even more important this winter, he notes, when the hospital expands to 340 beds, requiring hundreds of additional bottles, tubes and syringes.

St. Louis meat cutters on strike

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A dispute over a new labor contract has halted work at the Krey Packing Co.

About 550 members of the Butchers, Sausage Makers and Packing House Workers Union Local 545 remained off the job today after walking out early Sunday.

Union spokesmen said the workers have not offered the company a raise. Meat cutters currently make a minimum of $5.15 an hour.

Company officials were not available for comment.

Predicts 1974 will be good for Democrats

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Congresswoman Leonor K. Sullivan has predicted 1974 will be a good year for Democrats because of the trouble Republicans are having with Watergate and management of the economy.

The St. Louis Democrat told a partisan gathering of some 800 persons at the Truman Day fund-raiser here over the weekend that high interest rates, inflation, soaring food prices and "the sordid episode" of Watergate will spell trouble for GOP candidates in next year's election.

Mrs. Sullivan received the annual Harry S. Truman award during the event, sponsored by the St. Louis Democratic City Central Committee.

Shooting death probe underway

CLAYTON, Mo. (AP) — St. Louis County police are investigating the shooting death of an Alton, Ill., ex-convict at a South St. Louis County clubhouse.

The body of Jeffrey Smith, 21, was found in the unoccupied clubhouse on the banks of the Meramec River Sunday morning by a hunter who told police he was checking the building for the owner.

Officers said Smith, who had been shot three times, had no money in his wallet but was still wearing several pieces of expensive jewelry.

Madison County, Ill., authorities said records showed Smith served a 10-month prison term for armed robbery in 1969.

Jewish girl says she is a witch

30-30 vision?

Are these hazel eyes reading the future and other hidden secrets? They belong to Shawn Robbins of New York, a self-described witch, and they appear to "see" things most people don't — yet. These eyes have looked for and found ghosts in haunted houses. But Shawn has developed her strange skills in more conventional directions, too: she has studied astrology and palmistry, and at present she supports herself by doing readings, sometimes at fashion shows. (AP) an illness in the Nixon family within three or four months.

"I see some kind of stomach problem..."

Shawn has worked as the bass player in a rock band, a guide for the World's Fair, a market researcher, a singer-guitarist, a writer and a seller of flowers. She has also put in duty on the unemployment line.

When she worked for a small advertising company, she kept telling her colleagues the company would not be there within a year. She was half-right. The company was merged with a larger one.

When she worked for Bristol-Meyers as a market researcher, she entertained executives by predicting monthly sales figures for the products, sometimes to a fraction of the percentage.

Shawn predicted three years ago that President Nixon would be involved in a scandal in which the letter "W" would predominate. The California earthquake and a number of plane crashes.

She is particularly fascinated by plane crashes and studies the records. "Out of 50 crashes in one year, 35 crashed in a certain phase of the moon," she says. "You would never catch me on a plane on one of those days."

Shawn has studied astrology and palmistry, looked for — and claimed she found — ghosts in haunted houses and conducted a few seances that scared her out of her wits.

The first seance took place in a Canadian rooming house — on the night of the Great Blackout. When Shawn ordered the lights back on and nothing happened, she wondered what she had wrought.

Professor Hans Holzer, a parapsychologist, calls Shawn Robbins a witch? Nonsense, says the professor, she's a nice Jewish girl from Queens. She's also a witch, she says, and her day is coming up.

Shawn supports herself by giving readings at fashion shows at a fashionable Manhattan supper club, and by conducting private readings at $20 an acre.

For the future, Shawn has predicted an ocean liner would crash in June or July with loss of life. "I can't see whether it collides with another ship or whether it hits a reef. I also don't know whether it's American or foreign. But it's a large ship."

She also sees a separation between Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., and his mother and

Wet face . . . one apple

Donna Downing, center, got her apple Friday night at the annual Halloween party at the Georgetown School, but she also got a wet face. Looking on are Denise Miller, left, and Sheri Richardson. For more than 100 years Georgetown residents have put on costumes for the event. This year's participants ranged in age from six months to more than 80-years-old.

People in the news

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CHICAGO (AP) — Julie Nixon Eisenhower says her father sometimes "gets very discouraged" and "sometimes doesn't even want to get up in the morning." "But he is willing to go through any pain to do what he thinks is right," says Mrs. Eisenhower.

Mrs. Eisenhower, here for ceremonies dedicating the suburban Dwight D. Eisenhower Junior High School, told a news conference Sunday:

"I am upset over the mood of the country that questions my father ordering a military alert because of the Mideast crisis, and my father's health. There have been too many major events in too short of time for people to have time to judge."

LAKEWOOD, Colo. (AP) — Two of the five surviving Stanek sextuplets have been taken home from Colorado General Hospital.

The six-weeks-old infants, Steven and John, left the hospital Saturday afternoon in the arms of their parents, Edna and Eugene Stanek.

The other three babies — Catherine, Nathan and Jeffrey — will be allowed to go home within 10 days, said Dr. James Strain, the Stanek's pediatrician.

John weighed four pounds, 13 1/2 ounces and Steven weighed five pounds, 3 1/2 ounces just prior to their release from the hospital.

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Bob Priddy of radio station KLIK, Jefferson City, has been elected chairman of the Missouri Associated Press Broadcasters Association for 1974.

Don Keough, director of news and public affairs for WFAF-TV, Kansas City, was elected vice chairman. The association held its annual meeting here Sunday.

Israel is gradually getting back to normal

TEL AVIV (AP) — The hollow thwack of the paddle ball is heard once more on Israel's beaches, and fewer and fewer sonic booms from the jet fighters rattle the windows and the tourists in the high-rise hotels.

Pleasure yachts with colorful, billowing spinnakers venture out beyond the breakwater onto the sparkling blue Mediterranean. The sidewalk cafes and pizza palaces of Dizengoff buzz with life again.

Over the Sabbath weekend, 36 automobiles were reported stolen in the Tel Aviv area. This was only a third the regular rate but was a sure sign that crime, like everything else in Israel, was gradually getting back to normal after 17 days of war and two cease-fires.

"There were no crimes of violence over the weekend, no drug offenses and, knock wood, no noticeable rise in juvenile delinquency," reported a national police spokesman in Jerusalem.

At the busy intersection of Arlosoroff and fashionable Ben Yehuda, two drivers cursed and gesticulated menacingly over a pair of dented minicars.

"It's like old times again," remarked Bernie, the amiable proprietor of Bernie's Bottle Club. "After 17 days of being nice to each other, people are getting back to normal."

The dried-up tourist trade received a raindrop of hope when 139 Christian pilgrims turned up on schedule to tour the holy places in Jerusalem, Nazareth and Bethlehem.

In the super-sols, Israel's modern supermarkets, eggs were back on the shelves after three weeks of shortages. It seems that, during the blackout, the chickens couldn't do their thing.

All over the land, people were taking down blackout curtains, scraping blue paint off their headlights, removing the cots and water cans from bomb shelters.

Rabbis hurried from house to house — consoling the bereaved, arranging for delayed marriages and Bar Mitzvahs, bringing word of the captured and wounded.

"It's like old times again," remarked Bernie, the amiable

Automobile accidents were back in the news again, bolstering Israel's reputation for having the world's worst drivers.

Real estate dealers resumed showing model luxury apartments to rich American Jews in Netanya, Israel's Miami. And the country's only drive-in theater got back in business with a flick called "Day of Violence."

It had no connection with war.

Tel Aviv's Hilton Hotel offered a free two-day honeymoon for all servicemen married between now and Nov. 15 and found itself logging an occupancy rate of 17 bridal suites a night.

Junk dealers in the Jaffa flea market were pushing two red hot souvenir items: Syriac army gas masks and Egyptian tank license plates in English and Arabic letters.

Although several Hebrew newspapers resurrected the triumphant 1967 cartoon showing the sphinx wearing Defense Minister Moshe Dayan's eye patch, there was none of the old feeling of bravura and swagger that followed the victory in the Six Day War.
